

Create a Funny Stormwater Story!

Step 1: Fill in the blanks with words of your choice

Step 2: Read the funny story you've created!

Yesterday it started raining cats and _____! I animal (plural)
watched the water form into huge _____ puddles adjective
on our streets. I noticed the water entering our town's _____ storm drains. Luckily, there was a grate adjective
covering the storm drain so that my _____ didn't object
get carried away. I pulled out my x-ray _____ to personal accessory
see where the water went on the other side of those drains. Lo and behold! The water was _____ verb ending in -ing through the pipes and sewers away from my city. I could see that the water was flowing into a _____ nearby.
body of water
There were _____ living there so I'm happy that the animal (plural)
runoff water looked _____ and clean. We should adjective
always protect our local waterways from pollution!

Stormwater Word Search

S O A P N A P O R
S G M E K O O L A
L I T T E R L A N
B S P F U D L N S
E O A O R W U T O
A T I I L I T G O
R T N L H E I D T
Z E T R A D O I R
P I N T L I N R W

pollution

litter

paint

oil

soap

soot

Did you know? Pollutants such as oil, soot, paint, soap, and small pieces of trash can go down storm drains and into our precious water supply. Do your part to keep our waterways clean and pollution-free!